Hill College does not discriminate based on sex, race, color, national origin, age, or disability in its educational programs, activities, or employment.
SERVICES

Academic assistance is provided through personalized one on one counseling for qualified Hill College Students. All services are provided free of charge.

An eligible student participant must be a U.S. citizen or meet residency requirements for financial aid, and is enrolled at Hill College.

Also must meet one of the following:

- Neither parent completed a four-year college degree
- Student has a documented disability (hearing, sight, mobility, learning or other impairment).
- Student has a qualifying income level.

Students’ academic progress is monitored.

TUTORING

Tutoring is an active learning process, requiring that both the student and the tutor interact to achieve understanding of the material. Tutors for a course are trained and have completed the course with an A or B or have been recommended by an instructor or SSS staff personnel. Tutors work with the students on a one-on-one basis or in-groups of more than three and meet up to three hours a week.

COUNSELING

A counselor interviews each qualified student for program services. Together, they explore the student’s current academic needs and the resources available to develop an individualized system of support. Staff is aware of program and course requirements and of what it is like to be a college student at Hill College. They can help students devise a plan to fulfill career goals and cope with the problems they are facing.

TRANSFER ADVISOR

Assistance for students who plan to transfer to a four-year college or university once they have completed their courses at Hill College. Services include course advising, assistance in selecting a four-year university, admissions information, financial aid assistance and contacting other institutions of higher education to make an appointment for a campus visit.

SEMINARS

Seminars in a number of areas related to academic success are offered throughout the semester. Topics include time management, positive self-image, learning styles, goal setting, study skills, and test-taking skills.
