Here are some websites that list discounts for college students, offering a range of deals on various products and services:
Website:	Information:
	Provides access to discounts on food, clothing, tech, and more. It requires a .edu email address for free membership and offers deals on both services and
UNIDAYS	products.
	While primarily a digital identity verification service, ID.me also offers a variety of student deals upon verification of student status. These include discounts on
ID.me	shopping, services, and travel.
	Known as a classic student discount site, StudentRate provides deals on tech, travel, services, school supplies, and more, with a .edu email required for free
StudentRate	membership.
	Offers exclusive deals for cardholders, especially relating to travel. This card is particularly useful for students studying abroad, though it does come with a cost
International Student Identity Card (ISIC)	of $4 to $25.
	These are student-specific sites offering deals, discounts, and competitions in various areas including technology, clothing, and entertainment. Some of these
Student Money Saver, TOTUM, Save The Student, Student Beans, Student Pe	platforms require students to verify their status with a school email or through a student discount card.
Fastweb	Primarily a college scholarship site, Fastweb also includes a section devoted to student discounts, albeit with fewer offers compared to some other platforms.
